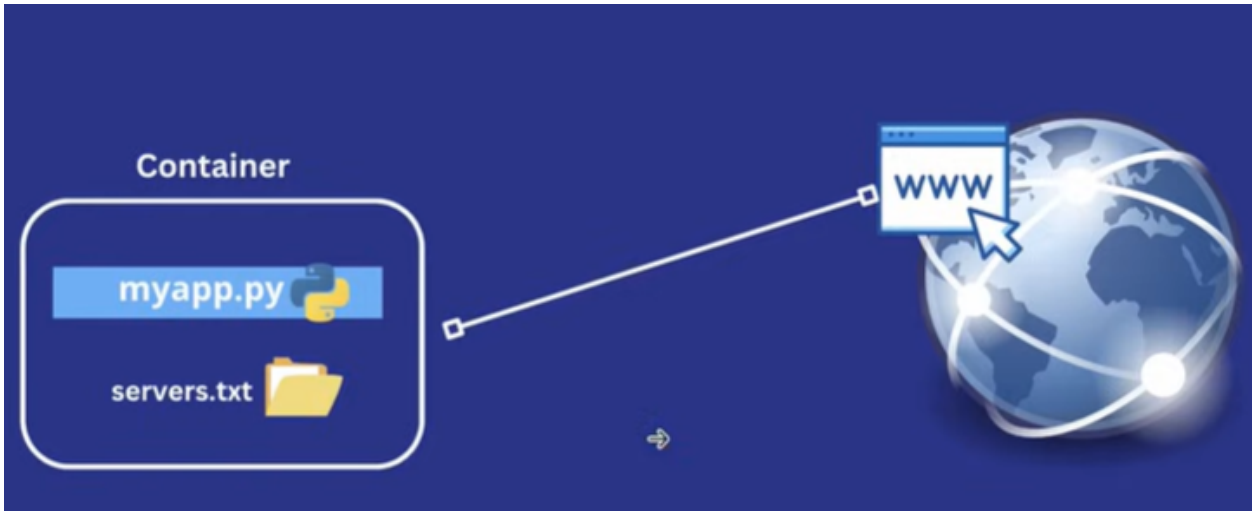
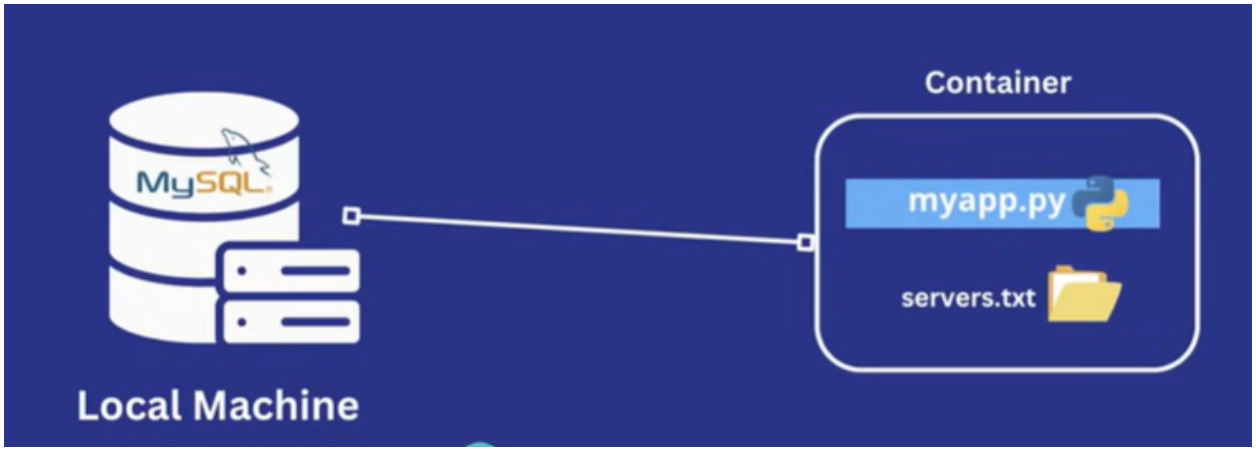
Communication From/To Containers

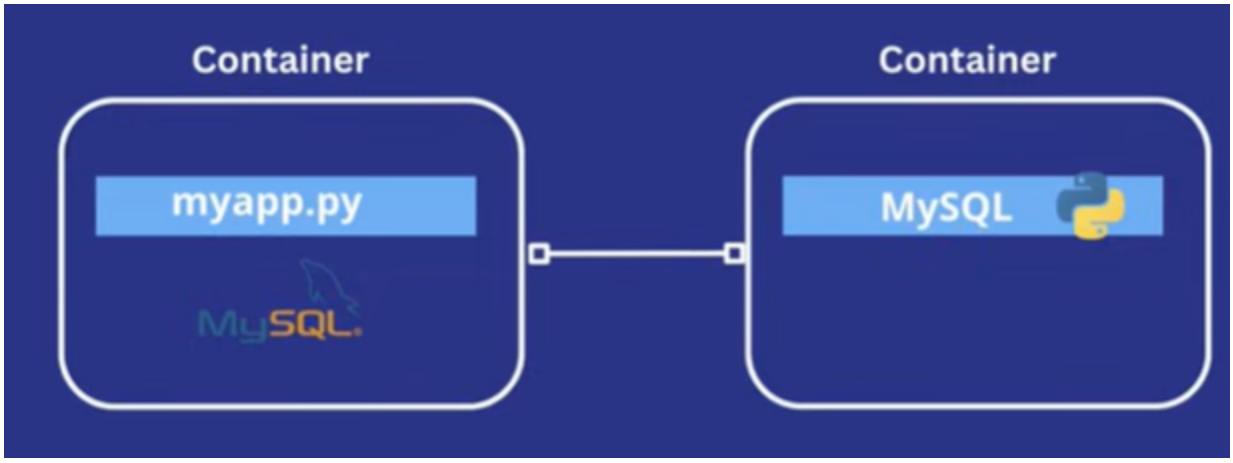
Until now we are using single program, program can communicate with outer world.
Support python code running in container,



This code can link with internet, or application example: API. like sending request and fetching the data.
Other type of communication is code is linked with other software in device, like connecting to the MySQL,



Other communication, both the mysql and python are at different containers,



For this we use networking.